

Hello,

We just issued a press release announcing that the University of Wisconsin – River Falls (UWRF) recently partnered with the Community Justice Collaborating Council (CJCC) of St. Croix County to develop a substance use survey. The survey is a tool to help develop a better understanding of the unique needs of those affected by substance use in St. Croix County and which risk factors are driving substance use disorders within our local communities. The responses will help guide decision making and strategies aimed at addressing these needs and risks with the goal of driving early prevention and intervention programs. The survey will be open through August of 2021 and can be found at:
